China: Train station attack an act of terrorism

More than 10 knife-wielding attackers slashed people at a train station in southwestern China late Saturday in what authorities called a terrorist attack by Uighur separatists, and police fatally shot five of the assailants, leaving 34 people dead and 130 others injured, state media said. SmartGate allows Singapore travellers speedier entry into Australia

Singaporeans visiting Australia can now zip through immigration counters at the country's airports, after Canberra extended the use of its SmartGate facilities to travellers from Singapore. "The extension to Singaporean travellers will make them the first Asian nation to use this state-of-the-art technology." Read more

Haze disrupts 24 flights in Pekanbaru

At least 24 flights were delayed for hours at Bakanbarus Sultan Syarif Kasim II (SSK II) Airport due to thick haze blanketing the Riau Provincial city of Pekanbaru on Saturday, an airport official said. "The longest delay, reaching nine hours, happened with a Lion Air plane from Kuala Namu airport, North Sumatra, to Pekanbaru SSK II airport," Hasnan, the airport duty manager, said here on Saturday. This is the latest airline perk

On flights from San Francisco to Hong Kong, first-class passengers can enjoy a Mesclun salad with king crab or a grilled prime beef tenderloin, stretch out in a 91 centimetre-wide seat that converts to a bed and wash it all down with a pre-slumber Krug "Grande Cuvee" Brut Champagne. Yet some of the most cherished new international first-class perks have nothing to do with meals, drinks or seats. Global airlines are increasingly rewarding wealthy flyers with something more intangible: physical distance between them and everyone else. Read more

GAO report: Airline pilot shortage? Not clear

Regional airlines report difficulty over the past year in finding enough pilots to hire, but it isn't clear whether there is a shortage of pilots, a government watchdog said in a report released Friday. Researchers found "mixed evidence" of a shortage, said the Government Accountability Office. A key economic indicator supports the emergence of a shortage, but two other indicators suggest the opposite is true. Read more

China boosts cybersecurity efforts, strives to become 'Internet power'

China is bolstering its efforts on cybersecurity with a new high-level committee that aims to turn the nation into an "Internet power," the country's official state media said last week. Chinese President Xi Jinping is leading the new government body, which first met on Thursday. Xi was quoted as stating that cybersecurity and information technology had become a matter of national security. "Without cybersecurity there is no national security, without information technology there is no modernization," Xi added. Read more

Red shirts launch mass counter-rally

The red-shirt United Front for Democracy Against Dictatorship (UDD) launched a mass counter-rally against the anti-government People's Democratic Reform Committee (PDRC) on Saturday, aimed at mobilizing supporters in the Northeast and the north. The rally will move on to Kalasin, Maha Sarakham and Khon Kaen today, UDD chairwoman Tida Tawornseth said. Read more

At UN, US demands Russia pull back in Ukraine

The United States called on Russia to withdraw its troops from Ukraine on Saturday as Kiev urged the UN Security Council to take immediate action to stop the crisis. As Russian lawmakers endorsed military action in Ukraine and Kiev warned Russian troops were pouring into Crimea, diplomats scrambled the 15-member Council for emergency talks in New York. How sniffer dogs detect explosives decoded, claims Scientists

Scientists have unravelled the science behind how dogs detect actual explosives and differentiate them from other closely resembling compounds. The study found the canines react best to the actual explosive and do not respond to odours 'similar' to explosives and would detect only the real explosive. "Appropriately, dogs that are trained to find real explosives are going to find real explosives and not much else," said John Goodpaster, from Indiana University-Purdue University Indianapolis (IUPUI). Bedouin man jailed for 'unwittingly' delivering explosive device

An Israeli court on Friday sentenced a Bedouin man from Tel as-Sabi near Beersheba to a year in prison after he was convicted of giving a ride to a Palestinian who later set an explosive device in an Israeli bus. Defendant Mahmoud Abu Anza was sentenced to a year in prison and three months under probation as part of a plea bargain despite the fact that the District Attorney was convinced that Abu Anza was unaware that the man he picked up was carrying an explosive device.
